

Language & Culture Learning Community

COM 104-A1, Tuesdays 12:30-1:45 & HIS 121-A1, Thursdays 12:30-1:45, Fall 2022

Language & Culture in our Global Society

How have styles and standards of interpersonal communication developed over time, and how do they vary from place to place? What does interpersonal communication look like within a society of diverse cultures? In this Learning Community, which combines two hybrid courses, World History to 1500 (HIS 121) and Introduction to Interpersonal Communication (COM 104), we will examine the ways that language and behavior have shifted through history and around the world; we will explore various cultures through food, film, and visits to local museums and historical sites; and we will consider global challenges to interpersonal communication styles while finding a sense of our own identities amid conflicting co-cultures at home.

Students must register for both COM 104-A1 and HIS 121-A1.
